

Bargaining Update #15

March 5, 2021

The NASA negotiating team has met with the employer several times since our last NASA communication, most recently on March 1, 2021. At this meeting, we received proposals from NAIT and we will be providing the employer with some of our proposals on March 5, 2021.

We are encouraged by the move to a more traditional type of bargaining and are hopeful to see some progress in the days and weeks to come. Our next negotiating day is March 22, 2021 and we have 16 more days scheduled for negotiation, up to and including June 17, 2021.

We thank you for your patience and we will provide our next update in April 2021. As always, we encourage members with questions or comments about the collective bargaining process to contact anyone on the bargaining team and we will be happy to talk to you either individually or in groups.
